HOMETOWN: Gettysburg

WHY YOU WENT INTO YOUR PROFESSION: There are two men to whom I am indebted for giving me my start. One is Mr. John Gross of The John Gross Company, who stood by me through the worst and loved me anyway. The other is Mr. Ron Hankey of Adams County National Bank, who took a chance on a little girl's signature and financed me. Then there are a few men I learned from as far as my management style: coaches Lombardi, Krzyzewski and Dungy. Lombardi taught me that self-knowledge leads into character, Krzyzewski that building a team means loving each member individually, and Dungy that faith is the foundation and strength of the leader. Quiet strength is a strong strength.

EXPERTISE: To be a leader, "you don't need a college degree...you only need a heart full of grace. A soul generated by love." - Martin Luther King, Jr.

WHAT SETS YOUR BUSINESS APART:

We here at The Pub & Restaurant are family to the core, which is not necessarily blood but bond, loving each other with strong boundaries.

WHAT'S NEW ON THE HORIZON FOR YOUR BUSINESS:

Change is good. With change comes growth, and growth means winning. In my 21 years I have been through many teams. With each new season I am always excited at draft time to see which new and creative team players come on board.
